Welcome to an approach designed for Africa

About the Forum producer

The Consilient Consultancy is neither a media company nor an event management company. It is a niche management consultancy firm specialising in supply and demand sides of healthcare system financing. With 30 years' personal experience of working in and consulting to the insurance sector and to governments, the last 12 years focusing on health insurance, I believe Consilient is well qualified to produce such an event.

The art of good conference production

Over the last decade I have attended and spoken at health insurance conferences around the globe. Some were good but many were not so good.

The art of good conference production relies upon relevant content, engaging speakers, first class facilities and ensuring the event not only educates and informs the audience but provides value for money.

Beyond that, it should offer great networking and be an enjoyable experience for all involved.

Quality not quantity and how to do not what to do

Above all else, this will be a quality not quantity event. We are interested in quality content and quality delegates. You know "what" the challenges are, our speakers will help you understand "how" to overcome them.

Why this forum? Why now?

There are at least four insurance conferences that take place each year in sub-Saharan Africa but all of these are general in nature.

We have seen how, in some countries in the Middle East, voluntary and compulsory health insurance has driven this business line to account for around 50% of all gross written premiums.

We believe that significant growth in health insurance will be seen in Africa over coming years as countries wrestle with the challenge of providing universal health coverage. It is for these reasons that we believe an event dedicated to health insurance in Africa is relevant and necessary right now.

Location

Our first International Health Insurance Forum was held in Dubai in September 2018. The event was targeted at delegates from both the Middle East and Africa and succeeded in attracting delegates and speakers from several African countries. However, to attract more delegates from sub-Saharan Africa it is clear that we must produce an event specifically for Africa, in Africa. The reasons are clear: a more affordable cost for delegates and an opportunity to tailor the content for local markets.

Whilst our 2019 Africa event is in Kenya, we are considering venues such as Ghana and Rwanda for future events.

The themes

Our experience of insurance as a health system financing tool tells us that all of the challenges and issues can be resolved into three themes that are relevant to insurers, claims administrators, employers, individuals, regulators and healthcare providers, namely Accessibility, Affordability and Sustainability. These themes are the core of your event program.

Speakers and audience

Whilst the themes should be relevant to the region, speakers should have global experience to bring insights from other parts of the world. We can also learn from speakers who have experience of markets with different challenges. We also aim to attract a senior audience that will provide more valuable networking opportunities and lead to more successful cooperation and future business ventures rather than those provided by the traditional delegate profile.

We expect the forum to be attended by insurers and reinsurers, intermediaries and regulators, IT firms and telcos and hopefully some healthcare providers.

I hope our approach will inspire you!

Robin founded The Consilient Consultancy, an independent advisory services practice based in Dubai, at the end of 2015. Consilient provides advisory services on both the supply side and the demand side of healthcare system financing. The supply side work involves helping governments to develop or revise their healthcare funding models while the demand side focuses on ensuring that models are sustainable, focusing on utilization, efficiency, combatting fraud and abuse and enabling health improvement, particularly through workplace wellness schemes.

Prior to establishing Consilient and his work with DHA, Robin worked for Ernst & Young's Middle East Insurance Advisory Services practice advising international and regional insurers, reinsurers and regional regulatory authorities.

Disenchanted with the quality of health insurance events, Robin decided that The Consilient Consultancy could provide a fresh approach...so here we are!
